BUILDING STRONGER BONDS

No team can succeed in these rooms unless they are able to self-organize, discern critical tasks and execute them in a time-sensitive manner. Room escapes are best at engaging individuals in critical problem-solving strategies, and challenges them to communicate effectively as a group by identifying a person's natural skills.

Escape Artistry's room escape games are both challenging and fun, making them excellent learning experiences for those involved. Placing teams in a new immersive environment takes them out of their comfort zone and can allow individuals to show talents that go unnoticed in their current office role or job description. For this hour it's only about results; titles are unimportant. From salesman to CEO, Escape Artistry can recognize the strengths and weaknesses on both the individual and team level.

TEAM ANALYSIS

Hosts can provide groups with feedback immediately after their particular session. We can present our observations about the group verbally to the whole group after the session, privately to a manager, or in writing to a manager. Additional information about our corporate team building events can be found online.
